Ethical Concerns

Investments

- ✗ UniSuper does not disclose its full list of holdings. Instead, only major holdings are publicly disclosed.

Other concerns

This may be a concern for some ethical investors, as UniSuper may not be actively engaged in how it votes at Annual General Meetings internationally.

- ✗ UniSuper do not specialise in ethical investments.

Good Points

- ✓ The GEO option does not invest in tobacco, alcohol, gambling, weapons, fossil fuel exploration and production.
- ✓ Commitment to transparency by being UNPRI signatory and RIAA certified.
- ✓ Investments focus on environmentally beneficial products and services related to alternative energy, sustainable water, green building, pollution prevention and clean technology.
- ✓ UniSuper discloses all proxy voting for Australian companies and the top 100 largest holdings in international companies.
- ✓ UniSuper has also disclosed climate change as a material business risk and calculates its carbon footprint every few years.

How the Leaf-System Works

The ethical rating is voted by Australian financial advisers who specialise in ethical investments (Co-op members). The advisers assess if fund ethics suit their average ethical client, and if it matches with the average client's expectations and objectives. The advisers consider how successful the fund is at; 1) removing industries and stocks harmful to the environment and society 2) including companies with environmental or social benefits, and 3) providing evidence of actions from the fund which benefit society and/or the environment. The quality of information the fund provides on its ethical policies, companies invested in, and proxy voting is important in assessing if a fund is as ethical as claimed. The final rating is an average of these votes.

Financial advisers are voluntarily participating to help ethical consumers gain a quick understanding of how the clients of a group of industry professionals view the ethics of each fund. The Co-op and the advisers do not receive any form of remuneration or reward for participating.
